Atlanta Pain Management Clinic Invests in Leading Billing Solutions from Evolutions

St. Louis, MO, April 20, 2007 — Evolutions, a leading national practice management and medical billing solutions provider, has been selected by the Atlanta Medical Institute, a pain management clinic located in Georgia, for its complete line of billing services, announced Tom Long, President and CEO of Evolutions.

Evolutions utilizes GE Centricity® as its interface engine, which allows the company to interface with virtually any medical information system capable of generating anything from a flat file to an HL7 file. By capturing demographics electronically, the potential for data entry errors at Atlanta Medical Institute is significantly reduced.

“Having the solutions that Evolutions provides will allow us to streamline our billing and provide even better service to our patients,” explained Scott Frieder, Managing Partner for the Atlanta Medical Institute. “Also, with the reduced payment denials, we’ll be able to enjoy an increased return on investment (ROI).”

Evolutions’ enhanced, HIPAA-compliant billing solutions entail much more than producing bills for medical providers. In addition to reduced days in A/R for many clients, payment denials have been reduced due to the company’s unique claims data scrubber that checks for missing data elements, transpositions and illogical information. With Evolutions, professional coders ensure that coding is at the appropriate and correct level.
