

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Evolutions Partners with CodeRyte
For Automated Coding Solutions

St. Louis, MO, October 17, 2006 — Tom Long, President and CEO of Evolutions, a leading national practice management and medical billing solutions provider, announced today that the company has partnered with CodeRyte[™] for use of its automated coding solutions, CodeAssist and CodeComplete.

To automate procedure and diagnostic coding of radiology, cardiology, emergency medicine, pathology and orthopedic reports and manage the end-to-end workflow, CodeRyte combines advanced Natural Language Processing technology with supervised learning, computational linguistics, statistical modeling, medical expertise and Web-enabled technologies. By analyzing complex patterns of language in context, CodeRyte leverages the physician's documentation and time without requiring structured dictation, templates and/or macros.

"These automated solutions from CodeRyte will allow us to improve our coding accuracy, achieve greater compliance and increase our cash flow with reduced turnaround times," remarked Long. "Having these solutions available to us will allow us to provide even better service to our clients."

Evolutions' billing solutions entail much more than producing bills for medical providers. The company's enhanced billing solutions, which are totally HIPAA-compliant, have reduced days in A/R for many clients. Payment denials have been reduced due to the company's unique claims data scrubber that checks for missing data elements, transpositions and illogical information. Professional coders ensure that coding is at the appropriate and correct level. With CodeRyte's CodeAssist and CodeComplete solutions, context sensitive technology ensures that the documentation supports and motivates every code assignment. The workflow engine, including a complete audit trail, enhances compliance monitoring and Quality Assurance by continuously evaluating engine and coder performance.
